Thanks to Volunteers for a Great Earth Day Cleanup!

The annual Earth Day cleanup along the Illinois Prairie Path was a great success, thanks to the help of many volunteers. Here is a report on the Earth Day activities from the IPP Board Members and volunteers.

BATAVIA SPUR, Ed Barsotti
Volunteer Paul Ferguson cleaned up the Path just north of Butterfield Road, where winds blew trash from new housing construction. The new housing construction's sales office was notified of the construction debris on the Path by both Paul Ferguson and Ed Barsotti. The Barsotti and Blokland families cleaned up the same area, continuing Paul's work.

BELLWOOD, Susan Wisniewski
April 12 was the original date chosen for the Bellwood cleanup, but we had to cancel due to inclement weather. We rescheduled to sunny May 10, and met at the Boys & Girls Club. There was a very enthusiastic turnout of 40 boys and girls, who were given orange juice, cookies, and donuts prior to the clean up. I showed them where they were on the IPP map and where the trail went, and told them a bit of history about May Theilgaard Watts, who was 70 years old when she began the IPP movement, and how one person's voice really can count.

Officer Jack Bridson of the Bellwood Bike Police gave a very interesting talk and demonstration. Then Pat Garlant and Ed Sheehan, the Directors of the Club, took the volunteers out for the cleanup, beginning directly behind the Club just east of Mannheim and working their way eastward. Loretha Cole, Assistant Program Director of the Boys & Girls Club, helped coordinate the volunteers. Frank Hasman represented the Village Trustees, and Larry Doyle and the Village Streets Department gave us their usual wonderful support which included gloves, garbage bags, trucks, and workers. Afterward, we had a pizza party generously donated by Mayor Lemm of Bellwood, with a discount on the pizzas given to us by Nick's Pizzeria on Bellwood Avenue and St. Paul.

Batavia Spur Bridge Under Construction

By Jean C. Mooring

Prairie Path users have been complaining for years about having to cross four lanes of high-speed traffic at Kirk Road on the Batavia Spur.

Now at last there is good news! The long-awaited Batavia Spur bridge is under construction and its completion is expected in June, according to Jon Duerr, Director of Field Services for the Kane County Forest Preserve District. He reports that the prefab bridge, made of Cor-Ten steel, will have an arched middle section over Kirk Road 160 feet long and 18 feet high at the center protected by a chain link fence rounded at the top along both sides. There will be a 40-foot span at each end leading to an earthen ramp 250-300 feet long to allow a maximum 5% slope. When Kirk Road is widened to six lanes in the near future, the bridge will comfortably span it. There will also be an access trail between the bridge and the north-south trail along the west side of Kirk Road.

The Illinois Department of Transportation is building the bridge, which will cost $630,000. Of this 80% is a Federal ISTEA grant, matched by 20% from the Forest Preserve District, less a $40,000 Illinois Department of Natural Resources bicycle grant.

Bird Watchers Enjoy Annual Illinois Prairie Path Bird Walk

By Dick Wilson

The Magnolia Warbler, the Chestnut-Sided Warbler, the Baltimore Oriole, the Scarlet Tanager and the Rose-Breasted Grosbeak were some of the many spring migrants spotted by 16 Prairie Path members and Audubon Society members on the Illinois Prairie Path's annual Bird Walk in Pratt's Wayne Woods on May 17. The hike is held each year at the best time to see Warblers and this year the group saw eight, along with dozens of other species.

The group also enjoyed a side trip through a Boy Scout Voyageur encampment. The scouts showed the group how people at that time dressed and lived, including how to start a fire with flint and steel.

Two New Members Join IPP Board

By David Tate

Mike Cross

Mike Cross joined the Illinois Prairie Path Board in April soon after he started developing the IPP's home page on the world wide web. He lives in Naperville near the intersection of the IPP's Aurora Branch and Batavia Spur and routinely bicycles the 30-mile Wheaton-Batavia-Geneva-Wheaton triangle on the IPP and the Fox River Trail. Mike is also an avid rock climber.

Mike developed the IPP's home page on the web as his way of promoting Rails-to-Trails in general and the IPP specifically. It includes IPP Newsletters, trail enhancements, Path events, a map, recommended bicycle rides, trail history and more. To view the IPP's home page that Mike developed, either search on "Illinois Prairie Path" or enter the following address: http://www.mcs.net/~mcs/IPP

Bob Bernero

Bob Bernero joined the IPP board in February. Bob lives adjacent to the Path in Glen Ellyn and is a marathon runner. Bob likes to use the Path for his marathon training due to its surface of limestone screenings. In preparation for the Chicago Marathon, Bob will run 50 miles a week, 25 miles on the IPP and 25 miles on asphalt and concrete.

As a board member, Bob is coordinating the IPP's efforts to better communicate to users the IPP's rules-of-the-road. See the Prairie Path Adventures box on page 4 for an example of the information he is getting out to our members. Additional messages will be posted on the IPP display cases and included on free trail maps.
Thanks to Volunteers for Earth Day Clean Up!

- ELMHURST, Steve Plumb
  Along the two miles of the IPP between I-290 and Salt Creek, 140 people picked up lots of trash.

- GLEN ELLYN (Report #1), Jean C. Mooring
  Having participated in every Glen Ellyn IPP spring cleanup since about 1970, I can say this was one of our best in many years. In three hours on the morning of Saturday, April 19, approximately 70 trail fans, including 32 members of the Glenfield Baptist Church of Glen Ellyn, gathered up two truckloads of debris. Two village employees driving a village truck and front end loader scooped up and hauled the junk away. Besides the expected cans, bottles, paper, and plastic bagged by the willing hands of the many volunteers, one truckload consisted of mainly logs, roots, stumps, and dead bushes carelessly left on the Prairie Path right-of-way between Main and Prospect by employees of the various utilities that have worked on that section of the Path in recent months. Mark Newell, longtime friend of the Prairie Path, hauled out much of that truckload of unsightly wood debris himself and piled it neatly by the trail for pickup.

  Warren Senneke, who directed the project on behalf of the Glen Ellyn Environmental Commission from his command post at Prairie Path Park, was enthusiastic about the number of volunteers and what they accomplished. "It was a great cleanup, thanks to all those caring people. Our section of the Path looks neat and clean," he said.

- GLEN ELLYN (Report #2), Bob Bernero
  Volunteers met at Prairie Path Park on April 19. The village provided trash bags and a truck that picked up the filled bags left at the cross streets. Thanks to volunteer recruiters including Jim Tuinenga who contacted the scouting groups at various local churches and Harley Jordan who contacted youth groups at the YMCA. I contacted 12 volunteers from a list of local members who had expressed an interest in volunteering.

- LOMBARD, Dick Wilson
  Six people worked for three hours cleaning up the Lombard section of the Path, starting at Main Street and going west to the I-355 bridge.

- WARRENVILLE, Bob Rawls
  The Warrenville section of the IPP cleanup took place on Saturday, April 19. For the second year, Brownie Troop 305, with Troop Leaders Donna Coleman and Sue Cirock, and members of the Rawls Family were there in force to make sure the Path was clean and prepared for the upcoming season. The Brownies worked very hard picking up litter and debris that had accumulated over the past year. They gathered 14 bags of trash. Our thanks to Troop 305 and their troop leaders for their help.

- WHEATON, David Tate
  Again this year the Wheaton Environmental Improvement Commission (WEIC) coordinated a thorough Earth Day cleanup along eight miles of the Prairie Path. Kathy Williamson coordinated the WEIC's cleanup along the Path and had a very good turnout of over 150 people that registered at the table that was set up at Lincoln Street. The WEIC provided recycling bags, coffee, orange juice, and donuts to the volunteers. The IPP, a not-for-profit corporation, funded the table and also gave to each cleanup volunteer its large multi-colored trail map.

  The WEIC coordinators Kathy Williamson, Paul Zanke, Ted Witten, Tracy Vought, and Helen Bartlett assigned cleanup teams to the two miles of the Prairie Path Main Stem up to the Glen Ellyn border, the one and a half miles of the Elgin Branch to Pleasant Hill Road, and almost five miles of the Aurora Branch down to Warrenville Road.

- WINFIELD, David Tate
  I was responsible for the three-mile cleanup of the Prairie Path Elgin Branch from Pleasant Hill Road to Prince Crossing Road.

Wheaton: Girl Scout Pack 306 and Cub Scout Pack 369, both from Wheaton, combine their efforts in cleaning the IPP’s Main Stem. Pack leaders were Bernie Ishmael and Mary Schlick.

Bellwood: Cleanup volunteers from the Boys & Girls Club received a bike safety demonstration from Officer Jack Bridson.
